

Lewis Fails To Show Up

Plans Upset For Mediation Talks And Director Ching Indignant

By Harold W. Ward
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(P)—A snub from John L. Lewis today delayed Government efforts to end the soft coal dispute which led to the recent nation wide strike.

Federal mediation chief Cyrus S. Ching had asked both sides to a conference here this morning. Lewis failed to show up, sending instead a curt message that his representatives would be here Monday.

But Ching replied that he had other things to do Monday. The mild-mannered conciliator, smarting from the rebuff, appeared at first about to check the deadlock to President Truman. Later, however, he said, he'd keep trying.

Lewis, who put his 380,000 striking coal diggers back to work today for three weeks, said through his office here that his people were too busy getting the work resumed to enter negotiations set for today.

A Curt Lewis Message

But that explanation did not come out until late in the morning. It was hours after the mediation service had been trying to get clarification of a typically curt Lewis message to Ching last night. It read:

"Ching, Department of labor, Washington, D. C. your wire. Mine Workers representation will be your office 2:30 o'clock Monday."

"Lewis, Chicago, Illinois."

Lewis communicated through his headquarters here. Nobody knew where the miners leader himself was. He appeared to have left Chicago.

Ching told reporters he would know by Saturday whether meetings would be called between Lewis and the operators. He said he had not recommended any action by President Truman to date.

Ching said he had asked for "clarification" of the Lewis wire because it "appears not to be responsive" to the federal invitation.

Then he went to the White House. He hinted that he was reporting he had done all he could in the coal dispute, in view of the Lewis snub.

Counseled For Delay

But John R. Steelman, a presidential aide who has sometimes aided Lewis in the past, apparently counseled for delay in tossing the dispute directly into the lap of President Truman.

While Ching was with Steelman the union made public what was described as Lewis' response to Ching's inquiry about the first wire.

"Telegram of yesterday was based on the fact that Mine Workers representatives would be fully occupied until Monday in securing maximum resumption of coal production."

"Monday afternoon first available moment Mine Workers' delegation can attend the meeting your office. Representation will be present at that time unless you notify otherwise."

Proposes Omitting Of Armistice Day

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10.—(P)—The Tulsa World will propose editorially tomorrow that the national observance of Armistice Day be omitted.

It urges instead, a lumping of all such rites into one celebration—possibly on Memorial Day.

The Armistice was a signal event as an end of World War I, but through the years and since another war has come to mean less and less toward peace. Memorial Day, on the other hand, is more extensive, the newspaper contends.

Its editorial will say, in part: "People talk, with relative calmness, of a third world war. The whole world is uneasy."

"There is a latent, and sometimes expressed feeling that the pre-mine of Armistice Day, as one of peace is failing."

"We see no incongruity in combining these and other memorial occasions into one fully integrated celebration."

Farmers Co-op Buys Closed Slater Mill

SLATER, Mo., Nov. 10.—(P)—The elevator and buildings of the International Milling Co., here have been purchased by the Farmers Cooperative No. 1 of Slater.

The plant, formerly known as the Slater mill and Elevator company, has been operated since 1945 by the Midland Flour Milling Co., of Kansas City. It was closed last Oct. 19.

With an added capacity of 150,000 bushels, the cooperative now has room for 238,000 bushels of grain making it one of the largest grain operators in the central grain elevator operators in the central part of the state.

Machinery and equipment used in the mill will be dismantled and shipped to other plants of the International company, which has headquarters at Minneapolis.

Officers of the Co-Op said they planned to offer the mill building to some industry.

Congressman Christopher is Guest Speaker

Tells Kiwanians Of Outlay to Keep The Peace

A report on legislative experiences in Congress was made by Congressman George H. Christopher, Sixth Missouri district, of Amoret, before members of the Sedalia Kiwanis club and guests in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

Dr. Floyd Lively was program chairman and George H. Scruton introduced Mr. Christopher.

The congressman said he gave the military 15.6 billion dollars and to give an idea how large a sum of money that is, the Missouri valley, exclusive of railroads, telegraph wires and incorporated towns is valued by the agriculture department at 9.1 billion dollars. The speaker said he had to think a long time before rendering a decision. The military bill was passed by the House in April and came back to the Senate and passed in October.

Keep Military Strong
The speaker, in discussing the Marshall plan, said it was the first time in history of the human race that any nation ever considered spending vast sums of money in hopes of securing peace.

He said if war should come, many times the cost of the Marshall plan would have to be appropriated the first day war was declared to conduct the conflict.

"In my opinion," Rep. Christopher said, "if we keep ourselves militarily strong, Russia would probably hesitate to start actual hostilities."

In answering the question what Congress was going to do about taxes, he replied, "Nobody is going to give you anything for nothing and if some one offers to take another look at him. He probably has an ax to grind."

Rep. Christopher said at the conclusion of his speech, "my intention is to render conscientious service to the folks in my district."

After his speech at the Kiwanis club Rep. Christopher spoke at the P. M. A. office to the Pettis county township committee on foreign problems as related to congressional actions.

Rep. Christopher was a former committee man, loan inspector and county committeeman of Bates county.

Attending the meeting besides the regular members were: Calvin Holloway, a member of the state committee, John Kendricks, a state program man, Oscar Fix, field man for southwest Missouri and C. E. Campbell, fieldman for the south central Missouri portion.

National Kid Day
Preceding the congressman's talk a recording announcement was played calling attention to Kiwanis sponsored National Kid day which will be observed in Sedalia and throughout the country Saturday, November 19.

Clubs guests were: Marvin Durst, Butler, secretary to Congressman Christopher A. W. Haller with Bert Hathaway; Judge Frank Monroe with Will Hurley; Mayor Julian Bagby, Atwell Bohling, Bryan Howe and Jas. Harms with Henry Salveter; James Reed with the Rev. Warren L. # Russia Uses Atomic Energy Not For Bombs

Vishinsky Declares They Can Have As Many As They Need

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 10.—(P)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared today the Soviet Union is utilizing atomic energy not to stockpile atom bombs but for vast mountain moving and desert watering projects aimed at expanding the Soviet economy.

He said, however, that if it became necessary for Russia to amass atomic bombs "we should have as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

A Dramatic Surprise
In a dramatic surprise appearance before the 59-nation special political committee of the United Nations, Prime Minister Stalin's top diplomat said:

"We in the Soviet Union are utilizing atomic energy, but not in order to stockpile atomic bombs—although I am convinced that if, unfortunately, and to our great regret, this were necessary, we should have as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

Yesterday a Soviet-licensed newspaper in Berlin said the Russians had used atomic energy to blast an entire mountain to open the way for a man-made river bigger than the English channel.

The fiery, gray-haired Soviet foreign minister at the same time made a bitter attack on the plan for prohibiting atomic bombs and controlling atomic energy which has the support of the U. S., Britain, France, China and Canada—and a great majority of all the United Nations.

Red-faced, and flailing his arms through the air, he shouted: "There is not an atom of control in the American atom control plan."

Vishinsky said the five-power western plan is "doomed to failure" and asserted that the crux of the U. N. inability to reach agreement on atomic energy control is a desire by the U. S. to monopolize control over the world's atomic resources.

Want No World Domination
"We want no world domination," he said. "The Soviet Union stands squarely on the grounds of peaceful cooperation."

He declared the big powers are not closer to a solution of an atomic control plan than they were three years ago and attributed the lack of progress to the attitude expressed last April 6 by President Truman.

At that time, the President told a group of congressmen in Washington he believed it never would be necessary to drop another atom bomb but he would not hesitate to use the bomb again for the welfare of the Democracies.

Russia has proposed outlawing the atom bomb but refuses to agree to the rigid forms of inspection demanded by the western powers. The Soviet line on this is that such inspection of atomic resources and installations would violate national sovereignty.

Vishinsky said Russia's objection to such international control is motivated by a belief that since atomic energy should be used only for peaceful purposes, then it should be controlled by national governments responsible for their own economic development.

"How sorrowful," Vishinsky shouted, "if the control of atomic energy were taken from sovereign, peace-loving states and given to an international organ with no control over the economies of various states!"

CONDON, Ore., Nov. 19.—(P)—One naval aviator parachuted to his death as a four-engined plane crash landed in a wheat field north of here last night.

The six others aboard the navy privateer were safe. Two parachuted and four rode the plane down.

A sheriff's searching party found the body of the victim at dawn today. Members reported at the nearby Louie Barnett ranch that he was killed by a blow on the head in landing. He was not named, pending notification of next of kin.

Secretary Of The Interior Krug, Resigns

President And Krug Were Not Together On Certain Matters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(P)—Julius A. Krug announced his resignation today as Secretary of the Interior amid signs that he and President Truman had fallen out.

Krug informed reporters that he was quitting about Dec. 1. A half hour after this word was given to newsmen, Krug's letter of resignation was received by the President.

Letter In "Friendly" Terms
Although White House aides said the letter was couched in "friendly" terms, they indicated that the President was displeased because Krug had given the news out before notifying him.

Informed officials said they understood the President and Krug had not seen eye to eye on certain matters, including the method of obtaining congressional appropriations for his reclamation project in the west. There were reports that the President had sent "rather sharp" letters to Krug in recent months, complaining that the secretary was bypassing the budget bureau and going directly to Congress with requests for appropriations.

The President sidestepped a news conference question this morning about differences with Krug. He replied no comment when asked if he had written the cabinet officer a strong letter concerning conflicting views on reclamation policy.

Krug's successor is expected to be Oscar L. Chapman is one of the longest-serving men deal appointees. He is a Virginia native who came here from Denver.

Youngest Cabinet Member
Krug, now 41 and the youngest member of the cabinet, said in his statement to reporters.

"I am leaving. I have been wanting to leave for a long time."

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, disclosed that Krug's action was no surprise.

"The President has known for some time that Mr. Krug has been considering this step," Ross said.

Krug is expected to re-enter private business.

It is known that the secretary has not been too happy about his job since the 1948 election. He was criticized by some party officials who contended he had not busied himself enough for Mr. Truman in the election campaign.

Truman Says No Reason To Change Policy

Reaffirmed Devotion To Bi-Partisan Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(P)—President Truman today reaffirmed his devotion to the nation's bi-partisan foreign policy and said he hopes relations with Russia will improve.

He said emphatically he sees no reason to change foreign policy operation because of the defeat in Tuesday's elections of Senator Dulles (R-NY).

Mr. Truman also told his weekly news conference that:

1—The election results will make it easier to carry out the Democratic platform.

2—There will be no change in the price of gold while he is President.

3—As far as he knows there have been no more atomic explosions in Russia since he announced the first one weeks ago.

The foreign policy discussions dovetailed with talk about the election victories scored by Democrats in the off-year voting this week.

Recall Dulles As Delegate
Reporters were mindful that Dulles is a former delegate to the United Nations and a leading Republican party consultant on operation of the unified foreign policy. They also knew that Gov. Dewey in campaigning for Dulles had declared Dulles' skill in foreign affairs must be kept in Washington.

When one of them asked whether the Republican senators' failure at the polls meant any change in the bi-partisan policy, the President replied with emphasis of course not.

A reporter wanted to know whether Mr. Truman felt the Tuesday elections meant "another mandate" for him. The President replied that when the Democrats campaign on a certain platform and win, they have the authority to call it mandate if you want to carry out that platform.

Questions about the big three foreign ministers' conference in Paris led one reporter to inquire whether the U. S. is getting anywhere in its dealings with Russia and if the chances are good for bettering those relations.

The President replied he hopes, as he always does, that things are moving in that direction and the medium for such dealings is still the regular diplomatic channels.

A Lewis Fierce Scowl
The President's only comment on the truce John L. Lewis has called in the coal strike was to call attention to an Associated Press wirephoto of Lewis. The United Mine Workers leader had an especially fierce scowl on his face, and the President's reference to the picture brought a laugh from newsmen.

Mr. Truman was asked whether he has any plan for keeping the mines open in event another strike is called after the truce ends Nov. 30. He replied that he will cross that bridge when he comes to it.

Would the coal and steel strikes have been settled if the Taft-Hartley was not held over them? Managements and workers should answer that.

Asked if there was any truth in a rumor that the government's price of gold would be raised as a means of reducing the national debt, Mr. Truman replied with a categorical no. He added the price of gold is fixed as long as he is President.

J. G. Johnson Fatally Injured
John G. Johnson, 63 years old, Missouri Pacific engineer, a former Sedalia, but who for the past several years has been residing in Jefferson City, was struck by a switch engine and fatally injured about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Missouri Pacific railroad yards in Kansas City.

Mr. Johnson was walking from a restaurant to freight train when he was preparing to take to Jefferson City. The switch engine was backing up. He had been working on the chain gang between Jefferson City and Kansas City.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Effie Johnson, of the home, a son, Charles, and a daughter, Mildred, wife of Robert Swackhamer, both of Jefferson City, three brothers, W. E. Johnson, 820 South Vermont avenue, this city, H. C. Johnson, 1415 State Fair boulevard, this city, and Homer Johnson, Independence, and three sisters, Mrs. A. A. Jollif, Kansas City, Mrs. William Milburn, of California, Mo., and Mrs. Millard Cook, of Jefferson City.

Mr. Johnson lived in Sedalia many years and at the time he moved to Jefferson City resided at 654 East Fourteenth street.

The body will be taken to Jefferson City where funeral services will be held at 10:30 Saturday morning.

Youth Charged With Dodging Induction

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 9.—(P)—A youth who insists he is only 17 but who already has served an enlistment in the Army was arraigned today on a federal charge of failing to report for induction under the selective service.

The defendant, Lawrence Harvey Whitten, St. Joseph, passed himself as old enough for enlistment when only 15. While in service he registered for the draft at Salt Lake City under another name and gave a different age.

He was discharged from the Army this year and returned home. The government charged that he was called for induction at Salt Lake City, but failed to report.

Tax Payments Are Coming In Faster

County tax statements are being mailed out as fast as they can be assimilated, Miss Hazel Palmer county collector said. Many persons pay the taxes of various members of their family or deceased persons, which necessitates time in compiling, Miss Palmer explained.

The statements of merchants ad valorem taxes were sent out first, accompanied by statements of all their other taxes, as far as same could be determined, Miss Palmer said.

Value of Gold Not Change

President States It Will Not Be Done During Time He Is President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—President Truman said today there will be no change in the value of gold as long as he is president.

The President replied with what he described as a categorical no when he was asked if anyone in the administration was giving consideration to raising the price of gold as a means of reducing the national debt.

Any such action would have to take the form of a recommendation to Congress.

The answer to the question, Mr. Truman asserted, is a categorical no. As long as he is President of the United States, he said, the value of gold is fixed.

The $35 an ounce U. S. price for gold has been in effect since January, 1935.

It was set when President Roosevelt "revalued" the paper dollar by lifting the government's buying or selling price from $20.67 an ounce which had been in effect for decades.

Rumors Persisted Rumors that the gold price would be lifted again have been persistent in financial circles and elsewhere outside the government.

Shares in gold mining enterprises have moved up several times as the rumors became intense.

Persistence of these reports also is believed by government officials to be a major circumstance in causing gold to start moving from the U. S. to foreign countries recently. The metal had poured into this country for the last 15 years without interruption except in wartime.

Certain foreign countries, officials surmised, have been buying gold from this government on the theory that there might be something to the rumor despite repeated and emphatic denials by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

One point of the rumors was that the administration, by raising the paper-dollar price of gold, would have a gain through increasing the value of the $24,500,000,000 stock of gold it now owns. The U. S. stock is about three-fifths of the world gold supply.

The "gain," so the rumors went, could then be used for issuing paper dollars to pay part of the $258,800,000,000 federal debt.

Will Close Mail Order House

HANNIBAL, Mo., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The American Sales Agency, Inc., will close its cigarette mail order house here this week because of a new federal regulation governing the sales.

The announcement was made today by Edward Tweel, the company's sales representative. He is a nephew of Nicholas J. Tweel of Huntington, W. Va., the concern's president, who said several days ago he would fight the new law.

The regulation requires that cigarette mail order houses doing interstate business provide lists of their customers and pay cigarette taxes to the state.

Young Tweel said the office here would be closed along with those at Alexandria, Va., and Asheville, N. C., and that all three would consolidate at the main offices in Huntington to await outcome of an anticipated court fight over the new law.

Steel Strike Has Paralyzing Effect

DETROIT, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Pushing its paralyzing effects deeper into the car industry, the steel shortage will throw some 34,000 more auto workers out of their jobs within two weeks.

About 91,000 Detroit area employees of Chrysler Corp., have been idle since last Friday, when the corporation shut down its Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler divisions because of the steel tieup.

At the close of tomorrow's shift, Willys-Overland in Toledo will add 7,000 to the layoff list. Nash Motors plans to shut down its two main Wisconsin plants Nov. 18, idling 13,000 more workers.

The other major shutdown is Pontiac division of General Motors, which will take 14,000 off its payroll Nov. 23.

Hudson Motor Car Co., employing 12,000 production workers, halted assembly lines at the close of today's shifts, and planned to reopen Monday.

A four-day work week has been put into effect in a number of auto and auto supply plants, notably several divisions of General Motors.

The Ford Motor Co., has announced it can keep up production at slightly reduced schedules for the rest of November. Ford manufactures a large part of its own steel.

Four Firemen Die in Collision

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Four firemen were killed and four injured when two fire engines, racing to answer an alarm, collided at an intersection near Pimlico race track in Northeast Baltimore yesterday.

"Both of them were really travelling," said a filling station attendant who saw the trucks speeding for the corner. He estimated that one, a hook-and-ladder, was doing between 50 and 60 miles an hour, while the other, a hose truck, was doing about 35 or 40.

"Both of them had their sirens screaming and I guess they just couldn't hear each other," the witness added.

The eight firemen, four on each engine, were hurled through the air by the violence of the impact.

The dead were identified as Joseph A. Remelick, 35; Charles Paff, 57; James W. Haynie, 26, and Joseph B. Magaha, 25.

The fire turned out to be a small field ablaze. It was quickly extinguished.

Can't Write, But Passes Bad Checks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Police are looking for a man who has succeeded in passing bad checks all over town despite a formidable handicap: He can't write.

The check-passer is described as being about 75 years old, six feet tall, and clad in faded blue overalls.

Equipped with a social security card as identification, he has been ambulating into stores and offering down payments—by check—on merchandise.

The checks invariably are for much more than the amount of the down payment.

He signs them with an "X."

Armistice Day, Pay Tributes

Parade Followed
By Address by
Rev. W. P. Arnold
At Court House

Hundreds of people gathered around the American Doughboy statue in front of the Pettis county court house in the bright sunny weather this morning to pay their tributes to the glorious dead, who fell for us so that we may continue living in peace.

At the termination of the Armistice day parade which shoved off from Broadway and Ohio avenue, promptly at 10 a. m., the parade participants assembled on the court house lawn to take part in an Armistice day service, in charge of Walter McMellen, president of the Veterans' Council. The Rev. Walter P. Arnold delivered a very appropriate address, speaking on the topic, "We Come Today, Not to Laud the Living, But to Honor the Dead." Rev. D. Warren Neal gave the invocation and benediction.

Solemn Tribute

All persons present this morning paid a very solemn tribute when they joined Rev. Arnold in repeating the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States, which waved high on the court house masthead. Following this tribute, a Gold Star mother, Mrs. Julia Gower placed a wreath, donated by State Fair Floral Co., before the doughboy statue. A three volley salute, fired by eight veterans broke the previous silence. The ceremony came to an end when a high school student, "Bob" Williams, sounded Taps.

The Gold Star mothers lined up on the court house steps, each with a gold mums pinned to her dress, were: Mrs. Julia Gower, Mrs. Ona Burk, Mrs. Grace Funnell, Mrs. Baxter Overfelt, Mrs. D. H. Neiberger and Mrs. W. E. Bennett. The mums were furnished by Archias. The Gold Star mothers, various auxiliaries and Red Cross women helped in making the Armistice day ceremony in Pettis county a great success.

Armistice Parade

Prior to playing the National Anthem to open the services in front of the court house, both high school bands, and baton twirlers entertained the crowd with peppy music and fancy twirling performances. For services the bands gave, they were awarded $35 to be divided between the two bands.

The Armistice parade was led by a police car, followed by parade marshal Duane Ewing on horseback. Eight other horsemen and women followed the marshal.

Next in line was the Smith-Cotton band, dressed in black and gold uniforms. Following were massed colors carried by veterans in uniform and other veterans, then came the Gold Star mothers riding in a station wagon; the Red Cross women and auxiliaries, followed with the Hubbard band members who were adorned in blue and white uniforms. Then came army jeeps, weapon carriers and other military vehicles and artillery.

There were quite a number of floats entered by patriotic, civic and veteran organizations. First place awards: a prize of $20.00, went to Oak Point school for its float, which was several graves; a first to Hubbard high school, which was a miniature of the battleship Missouri; and a first prize to V. F. W. No. 2508 in veterans class for three graves, with a sailor, marine and army cap hanging over each grave on the float. Awarded second prize was a military cemetery float, which was entered by F. H. Rush and Virgil Herrick.

Bow at Symbol
Rev. Arnold said in part: "On this thirty-first anniversary of the signing of the armistice, which ended World War I, who are we?"

"Members of all veterans' and patriotic organizations along with all ex-servicemen of every war, whether the Spanish-American, World War I or World War II, men of every branch of service, whether doughboy, gub, leatherneck or any other military service."

"Along with these come our city officials and county officers, our beloved Gold Star mothers, some young and in the prime of life and others with hair as white as driven snow. Along with these are citizens of every walk of life, rich and poor, white and black, Catholic, Jew and Protestant. In addition to these we have the youth of our community from our schools and character building agencies, future Americans, all coming to bow at the feet of a symbol of all men who have given their lives for our freedom."

"The dead, those who once lived and lived those as much as any of us, those who once moved about and enjoyed liberty and

Secretary Of The Interior Krug Resigns

President And Krug Were Not Together On Certain Matters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(P)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug, and chose Undersecretary Oscar L. Chapman to succeed him.

The cabinet shift is to be effective Dec. 1.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross announced the president's action.

He would not say why Krug is quitting.

When asked about that, Ross said that an exchange of letters between the president and Krug would be made public, later in the day.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(P)—Julius A. Krug announced his resignation Thursday as Secretary of the Interior amid signs that he and President Truman had fallen out.

Krug informed reporters that he was quitting about Dec. 1. A half hour after this word was given to newsmen, Krug's letter of resignation was received by the President.

Letter In "Friendly" Terms

Although White House aides said the letter was couched in "friendly" terms, they indicated that the President was displeased because Krug had given the news out before notifying him.

Informed officials said they understood the President and Krug had not seen eye to eye on certain matters, including the method of obtaining congressional appropriations for big reclamation projects in the west. There were reports that the President had sent "rather sharp" letters to Krug in recent months, complaining that the secretary was bypassing the

Gets $8,312 in Cash Left in a Telephone Booth

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11—(P)—How would you feel if you left $8,312 cash in a telephone booth and then couldn't find it there later?

That's what happened last night to Mrs. Virginia K. Spina. Afraid to leave the money unprotected in their apartment, Mrs. Spina and her husband, Achilles, took it with them when they went to a corner drug store to make a telephone call.

Mrs. Spina made the call and then rejoined her husband who had waited outside the store. A few blocks later, Mrs. Spina remembered her handbag—and the money.

They rushed back to the phone booth. No handbag and no money. The druggist knew nothing of it. The Spinas hurried to the nearest police station to report their lost savings.

As they were about to leave the police station in walked a young woman. Non Pinoin to report finding $8,312 in a drug store phone booth.

Miss Pinoin said she put the money in a hatbox and took it to the Spinas' address, which she found in the handbag. She turned it over to John Wiechec, who lives in a first floor apartment.

Wiechec, thinking it contained a hat, put the box in the hall outside the Spinas' door.

When Mr. and Mrs. Spina arrived all out of breath, the box—and the $8,312—was still there.

There was fog in early morning over the southeastern states and along the Gulf Coast and also over northern Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and north-eastern Illinois.

Deadlocked on Atomic Energy

By the Associated Press

Armistice day, 1949, found the world in disturbed peace, haunted by a fear of atomic warfare unknown on the first Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918.

The great nations remained deadlocked in debate over control of atomic energy. The United Nations last night heard Soviet Union foreign minister Andrei V. Vishinsky say:

If war comes, Russian could produce atomic bombs — "as many of these as we should need — no more and no less."

A British spokesman said Vishinsky was "saber-rattling." The debate grinds on. Thirteen countries are on the list to speak at Lake Success. The United States representative is yet to be heard.

Vishinsky said the Soviet Union is now using atomic energy for peaceful purposes. He said: "We are raising mountains; we are irrigating deserts; we are cutting through the jungle and the tundra; we are spreading life, happiness, prosperity and welfare in places where the human footstep has not been seen for a thousand years."

Where in Russia is this atomic activity? reporters asked.

Vishinsky replied: "I can't (tell) because I am not informed. I only know about it in a general way."

Inquest to be Held Tuesday

Further Inquiry On Tillery Death Is Underway

A coroner's inquest will be held Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock in Versailles to ascertain how Joseph Tillery, 37, of Kansas City met his death, whether he was murdered or committed suicide.

Tillery's body was found Wednesday about 10:30 p. m., 16 miles southeast of Versailles on Lake Road 8, about 40 feet away from where his car was parked against a tree. His throat was cut from ear to ear with what is believed to have been razor blades. The left artery was cut, and the wound pierced into the throat about two inches.

Morgan county Coroner Birch L. Medicus said he and Tillery's brother, followed a trail of blood, leading away from where the car was parked for about 60 feet, Thursday morning. He said they found a package of razor blades containing seven single edge blades. Three were missing from the package. Dr. Medicus said two blades were found in the front seat of the car and one was located on the ground near the car. Dr. Medicus said the blades were sent to Jefferson City by a highway patrol trooper to have them checked for blood stains. One of Tillery's brothers said Joseph always used double edge blades.

No Signs of Struggle

Coroner Medicus said there were no signs of a struggle, however, blood was found on Tillery's chest and hands. Tillery's hat was found smashed, and blood stains were on the car seat.

Dr. Medicus said Joseph's widow, Mrs. Lois Tillery did not know where her husband was going or had left from, prior to his death. A report from a filling station in Versailles said Tillery had his automobile filled up with gas, and inquired the distance to Camden. After driving Joseph's car a 1947 Buick back to Versailles from where it was found parked, it had four gallons of gasoline left in the tank.

Mrs. Tillery told Dr. Medicus that Joseph had about 60 per cent of his stomach removed due to ulcers, and said he had been nervous and unable to sleep.

When searching through Joseph's pockets after they found him dead, about $40 was recovered. Tillery was the owner of the Minnow Manufacturing company, a firm about to begin making minnow buckets. His brother, L. D. Tillery, said Joseph had no financial worries, but had been fretting recently over the shortage of steel for his plant.

Stress US Be Kept Strong

President Places Wreath on Tomb In Armistice Day Ceremonies

By the Associated Press

The nation's top military leaders today urged Americans to keep their armed forces powerful and thus help avoid a third world war.

They spoke at Armistice Day observances across the nation, as the world marked the 31st anniversary of the close of World War I—the "war to end wars."

Secretary of Defense Johnson set the tone with a speech at St. Louis in which he declared that "weakness breeds war, and that strength commands respect and discourages war."

In a talk at Greenville, N. C., Secretary of the Army Gray placed the probable ultimate cost to this country of World War II at one trillion dollars, and added that the United States must stay strong to avoid future conflict.

Secretary of Air Symington weighed the cost of the second world war in terms of men and resources, as well as dollars, and said "we must do everything in our power to prevent recurrences of those international disasters called 'World Wars.'"

There were similar expressions from other leaders in government, the military and civic affairs.

President Places Wreath

President Truman, who addressed the National Conference of Christians and Jews during the afternoon, led Americans in observance of the holiday with the traditional presidential tribute—a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington National cemetery.

Speaking in nearby Arlington amphitheater, George N. Craig, National Commander of the American Legion, declared that the nation is observing Armistice Day this year "within the dark shadow" of the atomic bomb.

One reason, he said, is that the United States and other nations failed to achieve enduring peace after the first world war.

Johnson, in his speech, recalled how he saw Armistice Day come while he was in the Army in Europe.

"Today," he said, "we have

The men were recruited in the Los Angeles area. Three of the injured are in critical condition. The others are reported in serious condition.

Charlie Davis, 39, Los Angeles, Negro driver of the truck, told police the semi-trailer was stalled in the road. Police said a different account was given by H. P. Myers, driver of a bus two cars behind the accident.

Myers' account said the semi-trailer was going slow and that Davis tried to pass but was prevented by an oncoming car. Cropping behind the semi-trailer, Myers said that Davis' truck clipped a corner of the other vehicle and overturned.

The men, many of them Negroes, were to pick cotton at Continental, 25 miles south of Tucson.

Kills Deer in Mid-Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11—(P)—Robert J. Sherr killed a wild buck deer today in the middle of Kansas City.

A yardmaster clerk, Sherr saw the six-point deer bound down the tracks of the Kansas City terminal railroad yards headed for Union Station. The frolic of the 200-pound woodland monarch, believed to have come from Kansas, came to grief as he crossed the viaduct over Southwest boulevard.

A switch engine approached. The deer, frightened, leaped over a four-foot railing and plunged 25 feet down to the boulevard. It was 7:45 o'clock, a busy traffic period, and the animal just missed an automobile.

Sherr ran to the scene and saw the buck was badly injured with a broken back. He slit its throat. Deerslayer Sherr, who had never bagged anything bigger than a rabbit, was given permission by the Jackson county game warden to butcher the deer—his father is a butcher—and dispose of the venison. He must give half to Mercy hospital.

Bomber Crash While Ablaze

At Least Three Dead; Some Take To Parachutes

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 11—(P)—

An airforce B-29 bomber crashed in flames near here today, carrying at least three crew members to their death.

State police said three bodies, unidentified, had been removed from wreckage of the big giant.

What happened to the other nine members of the crew of 12 could not be determined immediately. Apparently they had parachuted and some were reported safe.

Three crewmen, two of them reported in serious condition, were in a veterans' hospital here.

An undetermined number of others were picked up in state police and other cars.

The men started jumping out of the blazing plane long before it finally smashed to earth 12 miles northwest of Indianapolis. Wreckage was scattered over a field.

One of the survivors, Lt. Ernest Nation of Roswell, N. M., said that at least 7 or 8 of the dozen aboard parachuted.

The crash came soon after the No. 1 engine caught fire, the lieutenant said.

The plane, on a long range mission, had flown non-stop from Roswell.

Lieutenant Nation suffered a cut on the chin when he landed in a field.

Armistice 31 Years Ago a Pause For Deadlier War

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, (P)—Thirty-one years ago today bloodshed ceased in the most stupendous war mankind had known.

This Armistice after four years of conflict turned out to be only a pause that refreshed the world for an even deadlier war, the issues of which are still unsettled.

I can't think of anything better to present on this anniversary than the thoughts celebrated men of the past have held on war and peace.

Here are a few:
"Love thy neighbor as thyself."—Jesus Christ.
"All battle is well said to be misunderstanding."—Carlyle.

"The art of war is to know the highest perfection of human knowledge."—Daniel Defoe.

"In war events of importance are the result of trivial causes."—Julius Caesar.

"War is the trade of kings."—John Dryden.

"Military glory—that attractive rainbow that rises in showers of blood, that serpent's eye that charms to destroy."—Rep. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois in 1848.

"War should be the only study of a prince. He should consider peace only as a breathing time, which gives him leisure to contrive, and furnishes ability to execute, war plans."—Machiavelli.

"War, the needy bankrupt's last resort."—Nicholas Rowe.

"An army is of little value in the field unless there are wise counsels at home."—Cicero.

"It is not by speeches and resolutions that the great questions of the time are decided... but by iron and blood."—Bismarck.

"Gold and riches, the chief causes of wars."—Tacitus.

"I hate war for its soils conversation."—Fontanelle.

"There is no such thing as an inevitable war. If war comes it will be from failure of human wisdom."—Bonar Law 1914.

"For what can war but endless war still breed?"—Milton.

Mexican Navy To Get Modernistic

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11—(P)—The Mexican navy got rid of sailor hats and middie shirts with bow ties today.

A government decree called the traditional navy uniform "old-fashioned," and adopted one similar to the U. S. Navy's. "Bow ties," the decree pointed out, "now are used only with Tuxedos or tails."

Lewis Would Meet With Mediators

Doubt Expressed As to Any Call Of Fact Finders

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(P)—

John L. Lewis said today he was willing to renew mediation efforts in the coal dispute at a meeting next week with Cyrus S. Ching "or anybody else."

The United Mine Workers president announced his readiness to make another effort to settle the dispute at a press conference at his room in the Ritz-Carlton hotel here.

However, he did not hold out any olive branch to Ching, director of Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Instead, Lewis referred to "the Ching fiasco in Washington," his description of a meeting which the federal official sought to arrange yesterday in the capital.

Lewis and other UMW representatives failed at the last minute to show up for this meeting. Instead, the UMW head sent a message that he could not appear until Monday. Ching replied that the Monday date would be unsatisfactory.

No Action Until Monday

Ching, told of Lewis' new offer, said in Washington that he has no present plans to arrange coal dispute peace meetings. He said there will be no government action on the coal situation until Monday at the earliest.

Coal operators immediately available in the capital regarded the Lewis offer to negotiate as a left-handed one.

"Unless Lewis is more specific and shows some sign of modifying his previous position there is no use in resuming negotiations," said Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association.

Lewis told the news conference that Ching "arbitrarily fixed Thursday for a meeting without consultation as to the mine workers' convenience."

He added that UMW officials were busy yesterday trying to return coal diggers to their jobs. On Wednesday, Lewis announced a sudden three-week suspension of

Headed To Final Accord

Settlement by U. S. Steel Would Send 150,000 Back To Their Work

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11—(P)—Settlement of the strike against the giant United States Steel corporation appeared only a formality today.

Legal talks continued on an agreement reportedly fashioned after the Bethlehem peace plan which cracked industry's fight against free insurance and pensions.

The CIO United Steelworkers 35-man negotiating committee stood by at a hotel ready to act on the settlement. President Philip Murry took part in closed door huddles with corporation and union officials.

Murray was expected to go before the negotiating committee later. A union spokesman said the committee will likely have a session with corporation representatives.

When the agreement is reached, it will send 150,000 men back to work. That will mean virtual end of the paralyzing 42-day-old strike.

C. F. and L. In Agreement

Today started off on a peace-making note as the steelworkers union and the Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., announced they had reached an agreement sending 15,000 workers back to their jobs this morning.

The agreement, reached at 12:50 a. m. (CST), was described as roughly similar to that previously agreed on by five other major producers including Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Colorado Fuel and Iron, ranked 10th in the industry, has plants at Pueblo, Colo.; Buffalo, N. Y., and at Palmer, Worcester and Clinton, Mass.

After yesterday's session, a source who can't be identified by name, said flatly:

"It's the Bethlehem agreement here, too."

Bethlehem agreed to $100 monthly pensions, including social security, for workers aged 65 with 25 years' service. The agreement also calls for a five-cent-an-hour social insurance program. The employer and workers will divide the costs.

Somewhat similar agreements have been signed by Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Republic Steel Corporation, Youngstown Sheet and Tube company and Great Lakes Steel.

Of about 513,000 steelworkers who struck for free pensions, approximately 309,000 remain on strike.

More than a score of companies in basic steel—which produce raw steel—and in the fabricating industry—which processes raw steel—have yet to sign. However, they're expected to step into line quickly after big steel agrees.

Aid to Missouri On Public Works

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(P)—Missouri can get $513,615 and Kansas $244,440 in federal funds for planning public works.

The government announced those apportionments last night under a $25,000,000 initial appropriation from congress.

The money may be used for blue printing of public works, but congress specified that the government will not be obligated to building any of the projects.

Planning loans will be available to cities, counties and other political subdivisions as well as state governments.

The fund is being handled by the general services administration. The money can not be used to plan housing projects, the agency said.

Jess Larson, administrator of GSA, said the purpose is to get projects ready for building "when the economic situation may make construction desirable."

Fatally Injured As Auto Overturns

FULTON, Mo., Nov. 11—(P)—Lowell N. Moore, Trenton, Mo., was fatally injured last night in a motor car accident four miles north of here.

The State Highway Patrol said the car he was driving failed to make a curve on U. S. Highway 54, overturned and came to rest on top of him. He died in the Callaway county hospital.

Thomas J. Heuss, Jefferson City, who was riding with him, suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

A Word For The Old

When Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was 75, he was still young in spirit and retained a zest for life. Once someone asked him for the secret of his youthfulness, and he pointed to an apple tree and replied:

"Do you see that tree over there? The secret of that tree is that it grows new wood every year. That is what I plan to do."

The apple tree that does not grow a little wood each year soon dies. There is a lesson in this for every human being. It is especially applicable to those who are advanced in years and may be tempted to sit back and "let the world go by."

Because their period of physical growth has passed and the time of physical degeneration has set in, older folks must slacken their activities. But they must still keep alert mentally, for only too often a mental letting down may precede a general breaking down of physical health.

More important, however, than keeping mentally trim is preserving spiritual vitality and growth. No matter how old, men and women must keep growing spiritually. Indeed, the need for spiritual growth often becomes more apparent when the twilight years have come and the mind naturally turns with more and more frequency to the thoughts of the hereafter.

Age never brings a relaxation in the spiritual struggle that begins in early childhood. On the other hand, it may reach a pitch greater than ever before experienced. The old have special temptations to despondency, to skepticism, even to despair.

How are the old to keep up the good fight, to keep growing spiritual wood? Certainly they must become ever more fervent in prayer. They must cultivate the habit of frequent and tranquil meditation upon the great comforting truths of religion. Above all, they must enkindle in themselves a new spirit of faith and trust in God. The old should approach the final summoning not merely with resignation but in happy anticipation of that new and eternal birth which means the fullness of growth in the glory and knowledge of God.

Prophet Presents Problem of Suffering

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The prophet Jeremiah, whose book of 52 chapters, and five chapters of Lamentations, are a major part of Old Testament prophecy, lived in troublous times. His courageous mission was fulfilled in sadness and suffering, as he saw the land that he loved invaded, its king made blind, its people mostly carried into exile, and a remnant forced to flee to Egypt. Jeremiah himself also sought refuge there, and disappeared, so that there is no accurate knowledge concerning his last days.

A touch of glory surrounds a man, whom not even the direst suffering, and the persistent threat of death, could swerve from his mission to declare what God had revealed to him, and to save king and people from the disaster that threatened them, when they refused to heed his warning and to follow his guidance.

Centuries later, Jesus, who put the deepest commitments of the soul in the realm of practical good judgment and a wise counting of the cost, was to inquire (Luke 14:32) "what king, going to make war against another king, sitteth not down first, and consulteth whether he be able with ten thousand to meet him that cometh against him with twenty thousand? Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassador, and desireth conditions of peace."

Though Jesus applied this to the disciples' counting of the cost in committing themselves to Him,

He may have had in mind the prophet Jeremiah. It was in counselling his king, Zedekiah (Jeremiah 38, 39), toward precisely such action that the prophet brought upon himself the wrath of the co-called "princes," who had him cast into a dungeon and left to die.

Jeremiah foresaw the destruction and havoc that were about to be inflicted on Jerusalem by the invading Babylon army. But his warning and counsel only brought upon him the charge of disloyalty and treason, and the penalty of imminent death.

The story of how all that Jeremiah predicted, with the capture of the King, the putting out of his eyes, destruction, and exile, is told in chapter 39. But there is a bright ray in that dark tragedy in the story in chapter 8 of Jeremiah's rescue from the pit through the offices of a courageous and sympathetic courtier. A gentle and tender touch is added when the courtier dropped "cast clouts and rotten rags," that Jeremiah might put them under his arm pits, and avoid the chafe of the rope as kind hands pulled him out.

In all this is the background of the problem of suffering, and of God's suffering servants, emphasized in Isaiah 53. We shall return to that, with more concerning Jeremiah, and some suggestions of what his life and his prophecies mean for our lives and our times. It is of little use to study even these great things in the past and in the Bible, unless we profit by them today and learn the lessons they teach.

Miss Mott, M.D. To be Speaker

At First Methodist Church For Thank
Offering Service

Miss Stella L. Dodd, M. D., will be the speaker for the Annual Thank Offering Service of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church, Sunday morning, at 10:30. Miss Frank Coffman, president, will preside. She will be assisted in the service by Mrs. Alma Hausam and Mrs. Roy L. Bowers.

Miss Dodd was born on a farm near Kingston, Missouri. She was educated, then taught in the rural school of Caldwell county for about five years. Later she attended Missouri Wesleyan College at Cameron, Missouri, where she completed the academic and college courses, and later received a diploma in Expression and a M. S. degree. After teaching three years in the Alma Mater, she entered the State University of Iowa and took two years of medicine. She then transferred to the Woman's Medical College in Philadelphia, Pa., thinking there she could get a better preparation for work in a foreign field. She graduated from this college with an M. D. degree, and passed the Missouri State Board examination, then sailed for India the following December under the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Far From Civilization
Miss Dodd's first sixteen years were spent in a little hospital far out from civilization, which had waited fourteen years for a doctor. There was little money, almost no equipment, but many patients. The appointment included superintendency of a baby home, and her spare time was taken up in building a septic system, an isolation hospital, a baby home, and finally a church. The side appointments were, one at a time, the Girls School, the girls hostel, the boys school and hostel, the widow's home, and evangelistic work.

In 1916 because there was no one else who wanted to take over her work, and a furlough was overdue, the Hospital and Baby Home were closed in Sironcha.

On returning to India she spent four years in a Dispensary in Puntamba in the Bombay Conference, then was transferred back to the Hyderabad Conference to supervise Village Medical Work. War greatly interfered with touring, so most of her time was spent in the Vukarabad Hospital. She also managed the All India Tablet Industry while Dr. Linn was on furlough, the Conference Vocational School while Miss Harrod was on furlough, and the Doulatabad Evangelistic and Village schools while Miss Woodbridge was on furlough. She then came home for her own much over-due furlough. Miss Dodd is now retired.

D. W. Sims is
Ninety Today

Dee W. Sims, who resides with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Robertson, 1410 South Carr avenue, is today quietly celebrating his 90th birthday anniversary.

Mr. Sims was born on November 11, 1859, in Morgan county, O., near the Munkergdon river. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sims, came to Missouri by boat landing in St. Louis by boat in 1869 and then came on to Georgetown, where his father purchased a farm. His mother was the former Sarah Reed and was a cousin of President William Henry Harrison.

Having lived in Pettis county for 81 years Mr. Sims has watched its growth and development. He rode on horseback over Sedalia when it was just a prairie. He was educated in Dearborn's private school and Wake Forest school. He was one of four children, a brother, Howard, and two sisters, Ida and Helen, died several years ago.

In 1888 Mr. Sims was married to Miss Julia Bunn, and they reared Myrtle Wilson, Quincy, a sister of Mrs. Robertson, after the death of her mother. She now resides in California and sent him a box of California fruit for his birthday anniversary.

Mr. Sims was a successful farmer, having farmed near Hughesville and La Monte and retired several years ago because of his health. He can read without glasses and smoked until recently when he decided he had smoked so many years it was time to quit. He is active, a Cardinal baseball fan and an ardent Democrat.

Today he is having a big day with many gifts and cards from relatives and friends.

High Tribute to
Clyde M. Reed

PARSONS, Kas., Nov. 11—(P)—The late Republican Senator Clyde M. Reed was "the most romantic political leader of his generation in Kansas," a lifelong friend said at the Senator's funeral today.

The tribute came from Fred W. Brinkerhoff, editor of the Pittsburg Headlight and Sun. Brinkerhoff delivered the eulogy at services for Reed in the First Presbyterian church at 2 p. m.

The Rev. E. W. Armstrong, pastor of the church, was in charge of the ceremonies. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

Scores of persons from distant parts of the state visited the funeral home today to view the body. Tributes continued to arrive throughout the day for Reed, who served as governor of Kansas from 1929-31 and as United States Senator from 1938 until his death last Tuesday night. He suffered a heart attack and fell down the stairs of his home.

Two Speakers
For Underwriters

The Sedalia Association of Life Underwriters will meet at the Bothwell Hotel, Saturday morning at 8:15 o'clock. The guest speakers will be William Wagner of Kansas City and Scott Webber of Sedalia. Mr. Wagner will address the Underwriters on "Social Security and How It Supplements Life Insurance." Mr. Wagner is a field training supervisor from the Metropolitan Home Office. Mr. Webber is director of the local Social Security Office and will talk on the latest developments of Social Security.

The Life Underwriters consider the subject as being closely related to the programming of life insurance estates and yet millions of dollars in social security funds await the proper claimant. Many persons are missing benefits because they think the government will automatically send any money due them. The Social Security Administration can not keep track of everybody's birthday, marriage and death, so it's up to every individual to find out his own Social Security status and one source of information to the people is through their various life insurance representatives.

Armistice
Day to Pay
Tributes

thrilled in our freedom as much as you or I, but who with full devotion to a cause high, noble and worthy, gave to the uttermost the best they had to hold and maintain these democratic principles which have been cherished these many decades and which grow more meaningful and precious to us with each succeeding generation. These persons coming from homes in cities, towns or country, from homes rich and poor, red, yellow, black or white, Catholic, Jew, Protestant or of no particular church or religious connection what-so-ever, we honor them all without mental reservation.

"These, many of whom fell on the battlefield thirty or more years ago, some have fallen in more recent years. These who are worthy of all honor and respect that you and I might show them today and in all the days to come — to these and on behalf of these we come today to honor."

"And surely the highest honor we can show them on this Armistice Day and all other days of the year, is to pledge anew and afresh our undying love and devotion to the flag and the principles of freedom and democracy for which they died. Surely the highest honor we can pay to the dead can be carrying out the admonition of our honored President of the United States, who said in a recent proclamation, 'the highest honor we can pay to the dead on this Armistice Day is to dedicate ourselves to the principals of world peace.'"

Rev. Arnold closed his speech by reading a poem by Rudyard Kipling, entitled "Lest We Forget."

Most business establishments were closed during the forenoon in the observance.

the coal strike.

Doubt On Fact-Finders
Asked to comment on reports that President Truman was considering appointment of a fact-finding board to forestall another stoppage December 1 when the three-week truce ends, Lewis threw cold water on the idea.

He said he doubted if such a panel could "throw any light" on the dispute.

The UMW president said, however, that "the mine workers will attend any conference that may be convened within the policy of the organization (UMW) that will lead to a constructive solution of the problem."

Lewis said he was holding conferences in New York but declined to say if they were with coal operators. He also refused to say how long he would remain here.

Asked to predict what would happen at the end of the three-week strike truce, he replied:

"I would not want to prophesy."

In Washington, where reports that the government was considering the fact-finding procedure were heard, officials said the White House wants to give Lewis the same chance that was given to his rival, Philip Murray of the CIO, in the steel strike.

none of the delusions we had on our first Armistice Day. Today we have accepted the meaning of the word 'Armistice' in its literal sense—the cessation of physical combat." He added:

"We accept Armistice Day as worthy of celebration x x x but we also take it as a day of notice, notice to us that though the guns be stilled, the fight for the right and the light against the evil and the dark is everlasting and demands eternal vigilance."

"Not Weaken Defenses"

Turning to the subject of service unification and economy, Johnson said:

"In the department of defense we have already effected a number of economies and we will continue to make many others until we are wholly convinced that the fat and the gravy have been removed from military and Naval operations."

"But in this necessary process, we have not, and shall not, in anyway weaken our defenses."

"We will not close a single base, discharge a single civilian employee, or change any role or mission of the Army, Navy or Air Force unless we become convinced that by doing so we shall improve the capacity of our defense team to defend America."

Secretary of the Army Gray said in Greenville that the high cost of war is one good reason for keeping the United States military machine powerful.

He said a militarily strong United States might discourage an aggressor—or might insure victory if war comes.

Gray declared that the Army still wants two steps taken to assure its strength:

1. Retention of the draft act on the statute books instead of letting it expire next year.

2. Adoption of a universal military training system.

Gray was one of a number of notables who participated in Armistice Day ceremonies.

Numerous other government notables, military officials and civic leaders across the nation recalled in speeches the toll of past wars and urged the need for military readiness to prevent another.

George N. Craig, National Commander of the American Legion, said in an address at the Arlington tomb that the nation is observing Armistice Day this year "within the dark shadow" of the atomic bomb, because it failed to achieve enduring peace after the first world war.

Gray said in his speech that the initial outlay for World War I was about $27,000,000,000 while its eventual cost was estimated by President Calvin Coolidge at about $100,000,000,000.

Within a few years, Gray said, the cost of World War I had reached nearly half the total Coolidge had forecast. Gray added:

"The initial cost of our participation in World War II was about $350,000,000 or 13 times as great as the first world war."

While Gray devoted much of his speech to a discussion of the cost of war in dollars, Secretary of Air W. Stuart Symington, in an address prepared for a meeting at Welch, W. Va., considered the cost of war in men and resources as well.

Symington said that the total casualties for World War II, the wounded as well as the dead, were over a million. And he recalled that former Secretary of War Stimson estimated that an additional million casualties would have been suffered if an invasion of Japan had been necessary.

Then, after presenting dollar cost figures on the two world wars, Symington said:

"Furthermore, those two wars used up our natural resources—coal, iron ore, timber, etc.—at an alarming rate. Even before the end of the last war, this 'arsenal of Democracy' was running short of many important raw materials."

"It doesn't take a military or political expert to see that those facts and figures mean we must do everything in our power to prevent recurrence of those international disasters called 'World Wars.'" aid of the parachuting fliers smashed up in landing.

An Indianapolis man, Robert W. Randall, was the pilot of this plane.

He was visiting near Pittsboro, Ind., when he saw the big bomber in trouble.

"It was spitting flames from one of the engines and I could see it was going to crash," Randall said. "We saw some people take to their parachutes and we decided to go to their help."

He and his companion, Floyd Davis of Indianapolis, took off in the Cub and soon spotted one of the men who had parachuted.

"We tried to get down and smashed up the plane in landing," said Randall.

Neither he nor Davis was hurt. Randall estimated the army craft was around 5,000 or 6,000 feet up when he first saw the flames.

The men who parachuted started landing about two or three miles northeast of Pittsboro and the plane, by the time it hit, was east and south of that area.

Randall said he knew that at least three men who parachuted landed safely.

Republican
Group Meets

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—(P)—Leaders of the national Republican roundup committee, told that they might be kicked out of the GOP met today to work out a platform and effect a permanent organization.

The group of independent Republicans, claiming delegates from 33 states, contends the Republican national committee is working out no program or issues for the 1950 elections, and is leaving GOP candidates "up in the air." Leaders say they are seeking to "revive" the party and may set up their own state and county chairmen "where necessary."

Nelson A. Taylor of Greenwood, Miss., told the group in a speech yesterday that he had visited the Republican national committee in Washington seeking to cooperate and had been disappointed.

"We must plan with this eventuality in mind: Of being cast out of the Republican party," he said. "We want to work within the (Republican party) group but can't at the sacrifice of basic principles."

He said he was disappointed to learn in Washington that the GOP doesn't intend "to talk about issues" until after the 1950 campaign is under way.

"We want to cooperate, but we may have to set up our own state and county chairmen where necessary," he said.

Two Held For Contempt Are Given Release

Accused Of Evading Questions In Grand Jury Investigation

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11.—(P)—Nathan Bassin and Max Ducov, beer distributors, were released from jail last night after they appeared before a federal grand jury and cleared themselves of contempt charges.

The grand jury, investigating gambling and crime, had charged the two men with evading questions concerning their business dealings.

Federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan late yesterday ordered them held in jail until they were willing to answer the questions.

Appear Before Jury Again

Late Thursday, after a 2-hour conference between defense attorneys and government attorneys, Bassin and Ducov, brothers-in-law, volunteered to appear before the grand jury again.

Bassin was questioned first, about 20 minutes. He appeared cheerful before and after his session.

Then Ducov, appearing worried and fretful, was closeted with the jury from 5:07 p. m. to 5:40 p. m. Then the jury recessed for dinner and called him back in at 7:25 o'clock. At 10:50 o'clock the men were released.

Vincent P. Russo, special assistant to the attorney general, drove to Judge Duncan's home to get his signature on the release order.

In a three-day hearing on the contempt charges the government alleged Bassin did not tell truthfully where he got $7,500 with which he bought a tavern and beer agency.

STORAGE FOR UNCLE SAM'S CORN—At Winterset, Iowa, the government is building storage bins to receive about 740,000 bushels of corn bought by the Commodity Credit Corporation. Eighty cylindrical steel bins, like those above, hold 3380 bushels each, 15 wooden bins will hold 60,000 bushels, and six Quonset-type buildings will hold another 60,000. As each storage unit is completed, it is filled with corn from the 1948 crop, freeing farmers' own bins for this year's big crop.

Farm Vote Sits on Fence
Looking for Fertile Pasture
By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The real reason why both political parties have been wooing the farm vote with such ardor is now revealed. An official report of the Department of Agriculture proves that 1949 has been a major turning point in postwar farm prosperity.
No violent downsizing is predicted. But all reliable indications point to a general downward trend. As a result it is believed that the farm vote is now sitting on the fence, shrewdly waiting to see which pasture looks most fertile for the future.
The following statements tell the story:
"In 1949 land values declined for the first time in more than a decade, led by greater declines in prices of farm products and in net incomes.
"The index (1935-39 equals 100) of prices received for farm products averaged 239 during the first nine months of 1949 compared with 273 for the same period a year earlier. In other words, from 1948 to 1949 the index of prices of farm products declined 34 points, while the farm cost rate went down only seven points.
"Lower prices of farm products and comparatively high cost rates with resulting high operating costs in 1949 are definitely lowering farmers' net returns.
"Farm wage rates are averaging less in 1949 than a year ago. This is the first decline in average wage rates since the big increases in the war and postwar years.
"Farm income in 1950 is expected to decline again."

Evidence Shows Decrease
A study of areas and types of farms gives varying reasons for expected drops in farm incomes. The drought in the Northeast this summer will cause high feed costs for the dairy farmers there. The report estimates that this year will wind up with net cash returns "on commercial family-operated dairy farms in this area an average of $700 less than in 1948."
Grain farmers, it predicts, will have lower net returns because "of lower crop yields and grain prices and continued high costs of operation, maintenance and depreciation." Average net returns on family-operated wheat farms is expected to be down around $2500 less for '49 than it was in '48.
By no means do any of these indicators point to hard times for the American farmer, the report stresses. It says that even with the drops in income "the farmers' net returns are expected to average around three times the prewar." In spite of this, and the fact that the average rate earned on farm real estate investments in 1949 are considerably higher than the interest rate on farm mortgages, the report offers a word of warning to U. S. farmers. It says, "while farm returns continue high, substantial payments on principal are advisable in order to be in the best possible position if refinancing becomes necessary."

Good Weather Seen
Many good signs for the farmer are also revealed in the report. It says that this year the supply of farm labor was generally adequate enough to do all farm jobs well and on time. With one exception this condition is expected to continue through the rest of the fall harvest and the remainder of the year. The exception is the western part of the cotton belt "where another bumper cotton crop is being gathered and farmers may encounter difficulty in obtaining all the experienced cotton pickers they would like to have."
And with industrial employment expected to be leveling off in 1950, it is predicted "that the supply of workers available for both seasonal and year-round farm jobs will be greater than for this year."

There is encouragement given to the farmer on the prospect of farm machinery prices. This year they were the highest on record. Production next year is expected to catch up with demand and it should see the end of the sellers' market. And with this dealers are expected to offer better prices for trade-ins than in recent years.

Must Be a Fishy River
The Russians have allowed the German press to print a story saying the Soviet Union used an atomic blast to reverse the flow of some rivers and thus make possible the irrigation of many millions of acres.
The idea apparently is to try to convince the rest of the world that any explosions in Russia are for peaceful purposes rather than atomic bomb practice. The thing might go over a little better if the Moscow crowd would remember that we foreigners still have maps of Russia.
The description Russia gave of the river-reversing operation was about like saying the United States had blasted a mountain in Vermont to make the Mississippi flow into the Pacific.

Writer Wonders How Football Can Last With Specialization
By Bruce Blossat
With tongue in cheek, an English professor at the University of Indiana has forecast the sad collapse of college football by 1960.
The way Prof. Samuel Yellen sees it, in an article in the current Atlantic Monthly, the first step in football's demise began in 1947 when the University of Michigan team introduced the now widespread platoon system. Under this plan a coach uses two different teams—one for defense and the other for offense. Gazing ahead, Yellen sees the resulting demand for football material exerting an ever heavier drain on the supply.
First, little schools like Wabash and Amherst will have to give up the game. As for the bigger schools, they will manage all right for a time. But around 1952, some outfit like Notre Dame will carry the platoon idea a bit further. They'll pop up with a specialized offensive unit of, say, three or four men trained just for one play—maybe a screen pass, or a deceptive off-tackle slant.
The opponents won't catch on at first. Later, however, they'll begin to develop specialized defensive units designed to cope only with the specialized offensive group. Then as soon as the latter trots on the field, the defensive bunch will follow.
You can see that the possibilities here are almost endless. A coach might need half a dozen fullbacks, each for special plays. Squads might jump from the present 60 to 70 men to 150 or 200. College athletic costs will be sure to mount to staggering heights. Pressed for bigger funds, the schools will find themselves in a quandary as 1960 nears.
Yellen, squinting into his crystal ball, sees mighty Michigan at last devising the ultimate solution. Since money will be the great need, why not another stadium seating another 100,000 people? Why not two games every Saturday instead of one?
Yellen projects himself into 1960 to imagine what it would be like. Michigan now has two stadiums. On successive Saturdays the Wolverines play doubleheaders. Sometimes they win both games, sometimes they divide.
But here's the big feature. The two fields are connected by a tunnel. Michigan shuttles its platoons and specialized units from one game to the other more or less as they are needed. Why not? They're never employed full time in one contest.
Then the inevitable tragedy occurs. Traffic in the tunnel is pretty heavy and confusion is the rule. So no one can really be blamed when the signals get mixed and Michigan's defensive platoon trots out and lines up against Michigan's offensive squad, while in the other stadium Notre Dame's two main units face each other.
That day in 1960, when Michigan and Notre Dame wind up playing themselves in adjoining stadiums before a joint crowd of 200,000, is the moment Yellen thinks football's death knell will sound.
You think the guy is crazy? Maybe so. But at least he shows some nerve in tackling one of the big questions that is kicking around today. The question is: What is becoming of the "whole man" in a world that divides work and thought even more minutely?

• So They Say
A stage actor is like a snow sculpture. The sun comes out and warms the statue with success and it melts away. A movie is around forever. Nobody remembers you were in the play, unless they happened to see you in it.—Gertrude Lawrence, British actress.
If Mr. Truman wasn't so busy being president, he could swim in my pool any day. I think he looks terrific in a bathing suit.—Esther Williams, film star.
Few people seem to understand that the addition of 17,000,000 users of real estate to our population in nine years is a big thing. Lots of houses are going to be built and lots of builders are going to build them.—Herbert U. Nelson, of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.
Unless we get the complete co-operation between the executive departments and Congress, we are not going to make any real tax savings.—Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio).
The Russians may now feel that they can blackmail us with threats of using atomic weapons. We must not give in. It never pays to pay blackmail us with threats of using atomic weapons.—Foster Dulles.
I hope that when the Navy and Air Force get all their troubles settled, the Army, as usual, will go along.—President Truman, on unification problems.
Take it from me, these people are determined to improve their productivity. They are working hard not only to earn their way day by day, but also to build for the future.—Paul G. Hoffman, on people of Europe.
I hope the Republicans now will develop party principles so that even a person as dumb as I will be able to tell the difference between the Republican and Democratic parties.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.
In the long run, the atomic bomb may prove a blessing in disguise by literally forcing us to outlaw war. A well-founded fear of the bomb may prove to be its greatest ultimate boon.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, dean of American physicists.
We don't want government boards, we don't ask for government boards, and we are opposed to government boards. We have never reached a point where we would waive our rights to demand wage increases.—AFL President William Green.

Want to Keep Hubby Happy? These Tips May Do The Job
"Since you seem to believe in keeping the men happy . . ." begins a letter from one of my readers who says she has followed the column for several years.
That phrase of hers made me feel pretty good. I'm glad I've managed to give that impression over a long period of time. For I do believe strongly that a woman's happiness depends on her ability to keep her man happy.
And by that I don't mean she ought to be a mere yes-woman, or a door mat, or a martyr to his moods.
But I do think the chances are favorable that a woman will be happy if she keeps her husband happy in the following ways:
Ways and Means
One. By doing her own job cheerfully and well.
Two. By going out after what she needs to make her happy instead of sitting around feeling sorry for herself because her life is so drab.
Three. By appreciating all that he does for her and letting him know she appreciates it.
Four. By hanging on to the pleasant disposition she used to land him, instead of becoming bitter, sharp-tongued or long-faced.
Five. By managing to keep pace with his progress, never hanging back or trying to hold him back by showing resentment of the demands his career makes on him.
Six. By seeing to it that the children love and admire him. Whether or not Junior thinks his Dad is a wonderful guy depends to a large extent on whether or not that is the idea his mother has built up in him.
Finally, by staying as attractive as possible through the years, so that the husband can continue to be proud of his wife at whatever age she happens to be.

Begin Lobar Pneumonia Cure Early to Get Better Results
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service
Lobar pneumonia—which is the most common of the pneumonias—is caused by a germ called the pneumococcus. The disease is more likely to develop when the body has become weakened by disease, poor nutrition, or old age. Germs can be breathed in large quantities from someone else who is harboring them.
A typical case of lobar pneumonia starts suddenly with a severe chill which may last for as long as half an hour. Soon after the chill, the temperature begins to go up and it rises rapidly to around 104 or 105 degrees. At the same time a person coming down with pneumonia may have general aches and pains with headache. Pain in the chest or side, like that which is present in pleurisy, is also common. Cough which produces pain and does not bring up much mucus starts early. The breathing becomes rapid and each breath is shallow.
Typical Signs Develop
Unless steps have been taken to treat the condition promptly, the typical signs develop by the second or third day. By this time cold sores around the lips are likely to be present, the facial expression shows anxiety, the pain

The CAMEO
By Virginia Teale
Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.
THE STORY: Hagar Blair, seeking to buy a valuable cameo which Martin Falter, an artist, claimed to own, set out to make a deal when she finds the cameo's box in her car, open and empty. She examines the box and finds under the lining a series of figures, 10-4, 8-2, and 6, engraved in the box. She goes on to Falter's place and finds him dead—murdered in his bed. She tries herself against the light and starts searching for the cameo. She does not find it, but there is a compartment under the pillow.
Hagar blew out a breath of relief. Waddling forward, she eased the end of the box onto her knees and, still awkwardly supporting the bolster, she managed to raise the lid of the box just a crack. She caught a glimpse of what looked like several bundles of letters, each one tied with a string and bearing a label such as those usually attached to transient luggage.
As she squatted there, she was galvanized by a staccato of footsteps on the front steps and porch. She heard a muffled pounding on the door.
"Mr. Falter! Mr. Falter!"
Hagar bounded across the bedroom, shut the door behind her and sped to the front door before Stephanie had time to call again.
"Shut up, Stephanie!" she whispered fiercely, yanking the door open.
Stephanie stepped back in astonishment. "Hagar! What's the matter? Where's Mr. Falter?"
Hagar pulled her inside and closed the door.
"Dead!" Hagar exclaimed grimly. "Dead—n a doornail."
Stephanie drew back, trembling, her face marble white. "Dead?" she whispered. "Was he murdered?"
Hagar noted with a kind of perverse satisfaction that the girl's teeth were chattering. Now, she thought, now somebody else could feel scared for a change!

"Looks like he was stabbed."
Stephanie didn't move. "Is there—is there a knife?"
"Knife?" Hagar looked dashed. "To tell the truth, I didn't think to look for one. Come in with me and we'll see."
Stephanie was swallowing spasmodically. "Oh, no! No, I couldn't! I don't want to see him!"
Hagar squared her shoulders. "Then you keep watch out here."
HAGAR approached Martin Falter's bed. In stories, she thought, there usually was a dagger projecting from the corpse. Here, there was nothing, no weapon at all. She got down on all fours and peered under the bed. No knife. But there was a crumpled piece of something. A small square of distinctive tapestry. She meditated a moment and then stuffed the material into her pocket.
"Not a sign of a weapon," Hagar declared when she returned. "Murderer must've taken it away with him. Let's get out of here before somebody comes along and catches us hobnobbing with the corpse delicti. Hope you didn't touch anything in here?"
Stephanie extended her hands. "I have my gloves on."
As they closed the front door behind them, Hagar suddenly paused. "Stephanie! How did you get up here to Falter's?"
"In a cab—oh!"
Hagar clasped her hands prayerfully and rolled her eyes skyward: "In a cab, she says! Now I'll have to think up a good reason why I was there when you walked in!"
GUIDING her car up Rodin Avenue toward her house, Hagar wondered whether to tell Stephanie about finding the empty silver box.
She compromised. "Who d'you

Okla. Invades Missouri

Both Coaches Were in Doubt As to a Victory in Columbia Saturday

By Skipper Patrick

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 11—(P)—There'll be a surprised football coach at Columbia, Mo., by sundown tomorrow.

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Don Fautrot, of Missouri, who send their teams into the most important Big Seven conference game of the year, had this to say:

Wilkinson — "I'll be awfully surprised if we beat Missouri." He said his undefeated and untied Sooners have less reserve strength than does Missouri and that "all the factors" point to a Missouri win.

Fautrot — "I'll really be surprised if we beat Oklahoma. And make that slap-happy surprised, biggest surprise of my life."

Fautrot, who has seen his Tigers lose only two games in seven, both by one point margins, said Oklahoma had greater manpower and that the Sooners would be in much better physical condition.

Record Crowd Expected

Regardless of who gets the bigger surprise, however, it's a sure thing that the largest football crowd ever assembled in the Missouri stadium — 36,000 — will be on hand for the 3 p. m. (CST) kickoff.

Rated No. 3 in the nation and the most desirable among the available teams for a post season bowl, Oklahoma leads the country in yards gained rushing and in defensive play. The Sooners haven't lost a game since their 1948 opener.

Missouri, which has played a slightly tougher schedule than Oklahoma, also is in the running for a post season appearance, but its manpower is badly battered, according to Fautrot.

Injured Players

Fautrot says Mike Ghnouly, his ace defensive back, won't be in uniform. He also listed more than half a dozen injured players. Practically all of them are members of the No. 1 defensive platoon.

Oklahoma, which beat North Carolina 14-6 in the last Sugar bowl, hasn't lost to Missouri since 1945. The Sooners won the game that decided the Big Seven title, 41-7, over Missouri last year.

One thing is certain — both teams will use the yard-gobbling Split T offensive.

Fautrot introduced the Split T at Missouri in 1941. Wilkinson picked it up from Fautrot at Iowa Navy pre-flight school when he was assisting the Missouri mentor during the war. Bud has added a number of single wing tricks in his wide sequence of plays.

At Ames, Iowa, the Iowa State Cyclones went through an extensive drill in preparation for their Big Seven game with Nebraska at home tomorrow. A victory for Iowa State would clinch third place in the final conference standings for the Cyclones.

Long Session

Nebraska worked in sweat clothes, but the session was long. Kansas State, which closes its home season against Oklahoma A. and M. devoted considerable time to its offense yesterday.

Colorado, which has a Big Seven game remaining with Nebraska at Lincoln Nov. 19, was scheduled to arrive in Albuquerque, N. M., this afternoon where the Buffaloes will meet New Mexico tomorrow.

Kansas got back in pads yesterday for the first time since beating Nebraska last Saturday. The Jayhawks are getting ready for the game with Missouri at Lawrence next week. They have an open date tomorrow.

Executive secretary Virgil Spurling of Missouri says there will be no tickets on sale at the stadium. Spurling said the gates were being opened early to make it possible for everyone to be in the stands by kickoff time.

Gates Open at 12:15 p. m.

"The gates will open at 12:15 p. m. and we have ample parking facilities if the weather is good," Spurling said. "In event of rain, however, our parking space will be cut 30 per cent. Some of our new ground has not had time to weather down."

The previous record crowd at Missouri was 32,000 for the Kansas game last year. Additional seats were added on the west stands last summer.

200-Game Schedule For Pacific Coast League

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11—(P)—The Pacific Coast League aims to retain its hold on baseball's marathon title. It will play a 200-game schedule in 1950.

The PCL's directors voted yesterday to eliminate the Governor's cup playoffs, but add two weeks to the regular season, making it a 200 instead of 186-game card.

Nothing was said—by publication, anyway—about the proposal to put the PCL champion against the winner of the little world series.

Phog Allen Cracks Down On Athletes

Charges That Many College Athletes Cheat Income Tax

LAWRENCE, Kas., Nov. 11—(P)—Phog Allen forges a crack-down by the Internal Revenue Department on some college athletes.

The 63-year-old University of Kansas basketball coach charged yesterday that many college athletes are cheating on their income tax returns.

"It is known that some amateur athletes are drawing from $10,000 to $20,000," Allen said in a Kiwanis club speech. "Junior college athletes are now being paid from $50 to $100 a month."

"Those salaries are not now being reported for income taxes." Several coaches, however, scoffed at Allen's remarks on players' pay.

The talkative coach, who long has advocated a czar for inter-collegiate athletics, predicted the Internal Revenue Department would move into the situation within three years.

"Everybody is supposed to at least make a report on an income of $600 or more," he said. "College athletes realize they would lose their amateur standing if they made a return."

Vicious Circle

It's a vicious circle. Everybody is partly to blame. The only solution—and I've said it a thousand times—is a czar for inter-collegiate sports."

In commenting on the Big Seven conference, of which Kansas is a member, Allen said:

"A few years ago Don Fautrot (University of Missouri football coach) and Jap Haskell (former University of Oklahoma athletic director) were breaking every rule in the book by paying players."

Both Fautrot and Haskell laughed off the remark.

"That's Phog for you," said Haskell, now a Tulsa insurance agent. "He just has to get a blast off his chest every now and then. It's almost a yearly habit with him."

Fautrot Commented

Fautrot, busy at Columbia, preparing for the Missouri-Oklahoma game, commented:

"That's the first good laugh I've had all week. Phoggy on Phog. I'm too worried about my football game with Oklahoma Saturday to fret over anything that osteopathic basketball coach has to say. Allen made an absurd statement—one without foundation."

George (Potsy) Clark, University of Nebraska director of athletics, said:

"I don't think the Internal Revenue Bureau will have to worry about chasing down any of our athletes in any sport. I have heard that exorbitant salaries were being paid some athletes elsewhere, but I have no proof they were. It makes good newspaper copy, but I don't think it's true in 90 per cent of the cases."

Tiger Team Shoved Off For Mexico

Game of Year Was Being Played This Afternoon

The Smith-Cotton football aggregation shoved off this morning at 9:00 o'clock from the high school to make a 110 mile journey to Mexico, the meeting grounds for the most important game of the year for the Tigers, when they tangle it out with the Colonels this afternoon in a conference tilt, starting at 2:30 p.m.

The game is an all important one, simply because the Tigers have a chance to win or lose the top rung of the Central Missouri Conference title. Following the game, the 29 Tiger footballers, Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, Coach Howard Glavin and manager Cecil Monsees were slated to make the return trip home in the S-C bus.

We're Ready to Go"

Prior to leaving this morning, Coach Dow said, "We're ready to go." He said the boys are in pretty good shape, but they have been in better condition than they are today.

If the Tigers land a victory over the military boys, who outweigh the Sedalia boys, 20 pounds to the man, the home team will without a doubt be the CMO champions. Should the Tigers lose to the Colonels, and the Columbia Kewpies, who are holding second place, down the Kemper Yellowjackets tonight, then the Tigers and Kewpies will have tied for first place in the conference.

Following the tilt today, the Tigers have one more non-conference game with North Kansas City, thus ending the 1949 gridiron season, except if they win today, then they will more than likely be invited to match play with another Missouri high school team in the Show-Me bowl at Columbia, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Homesick Buffalo Travels 10 Miles

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 11—(P)—Allen Schreiber's homesick buffalo is going in the right direction but at the rate he is going it will take him a long time to get back to Oklahoma.

In six days he has gone only 10 miles.

The yearling bull was brought here last Friday to head a herd being formed by Schreiber as a hobby. The first night he leaped a fence.

He has been sighted several times, but always has outrun his pursuers. He was seen yesterday north of Faucett.

Director of Athletics In Critical Condition

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11—(P)—Robert J. H. (Bob) Kipthuth, 59, Yale University's director of athletics, is in critical condition at the New Haven hospital today following a heart attack.

The gray-haired perfectionist, who piloted United States Olympic and Yale swimming teams to unprecedented heights, suffered a coronary occlusion yesterday while playing handball.

Kipthuth directed the last four United States Olympic swimming teams, and his 1948 team, achieved an unprecedented sweep of every event.

In dual competition, his Yale swim teams went undefeated from 1918 to 1923, then lost three in a year. From 1924 to 1938, Yale won 183 consecutive meets, and then 68 straight from 1938 to 1945, when a full-strength Army team defeated a war-depleted Yale team.

Since that loss, Yale hasn't been beaten in 40 meets.

Harvard Boys Took Pasting From Girls In Field Hockey

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass., Nov. 11—(P)—The boys from Harvard took a pasting from the girls at field hockey.

The Mill Street Field Hockey Association, a Harvard group, took a 6-2 pasting from the girls yesterday.

Kansas City Kas. Won Junior College Conference

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 11—(P)—A 46 to 14 victory last night over Chillicothe Business college gave Kansas City, Kas., the football championship of the Interstate Junior College Conference.

The Kansas City team was undefeated in conference play.

Veck Denies The Indians For Sale

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—(P)—President Bill Veck of the Cleveland Indians issued another of his denials that a deal for sale of the club has been completed here.

Veck admitted he was "sitting around and talking" with Hank Greenberg, Indians' vice-president, and president William O. De Witt of the St. Louis Browns this afternoon.

In answer to reports emanating in Cleveland that the club's sale had been closed here, Veck declared sharply:

"I'm getting tired of these six or seven routine checks a day on the sale of the club. This doesn't look like we sold the club, does it? We wouldn't be selling it to De Witt, who represents the Browns, would we?"

The trio reportedly assembled to discuss deals.

Trenton Won First Game In 11 Years

Team Beat Hapless Montclair Teachers By a 7 to 6 Score

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 11—(P)—Remember 1938? Joe Louis knocked out Max Schmeling, Lawrin won the Kentucky Derby and the New York Yankees polished off the Chicago Cubs in four straight in the World Series. And —Trenton State Teachers won a football game.

It took the teachers 11 long years and 45 games before they won another yesterday, 7-6 over hapless Montclair Teachers. Something had to give for neither club has copped one all season.

A pre-game visit to Trenton's campus was enough to prove this was not "just another ball game."

Coach George Ackerman and his three-man staff went to some lengths to get the boys in the right mood. Tissue paper "beat Montclair" signs festooned the locker room.

A sign over the door read: "Don't pass through this door until you're ready to beat Montclair."

They didn't.

Losing Streak Over

When they trooped back at game end, with Halfback Mike Angelotti and End Bob Zardus hoisted on their shoulders the losing streak was over.

Angelotti plunged for the lone Trenton score after a Don Donaldson-to-Zardus 32-yard pass play set it up.

Zardus, a bespectacled freshman, kicked the extra point with a placement.

To start the long series of losses Montclair, yesterday's victim hung the first loss on Trenton 6-0 in 1938. Only three ties interrupted the gloomy procession of losses.

Trenton didn't field a team during the war years of 1942-43-44-45 but the boys picked up the string again in 1946 and brought it up to yesterday, their last game this season.

Out-Of-State Hunters Invade Missouri Quail

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 11—(P)—A record number of bird hunters took to the fields to open Missouri's quail season, the state conservation commission reported.

Many out of state gunners descended on southwestern Missouri counties for the opening. Agents reported licenses sold to hunters from Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

They said most lodging facilities in the area have been sold out for a week.

No reports of arrests were made to headquarters of the wildlife agency here.

In east central Missouri the usual horde of St. Louisans left their city jobs to open the season at mid-week.

Conservation agents said Missouri's quail season starts earlier and is longer than in most nearby states, a fact which probably prompted many out of state hunters to come here.

Jack Kramer Won Again Over Gonzales

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11—(P)—Jack Kramer, champion of the pro tennis world, is five matches ahead of his transcontinental opponent, Richard (Pancho) Gonzales after another victory here.

Kramer has won eight out of the 11 matches played so far. Last night he defeated Gonzales 11-9, 6-0.

Veteran Frankie Parker won his first decision of the tour from Francisco (Pancho) Segura, 6-2, 7-5.

Another Stab By Bealmer At Grid Victories

Okla., Over M. U.; Hefty Army Vote; As Usual The Irish

By Austin Bealmer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(P)—Let's take another stab at the weekly football forecast. Despite last Saturday's upsets, we're holding our own with an average of 789 on 381 correct guesses and 102 misses. The Associated Press rankings of the better teams are in parentheses:

Notre (1) vs North Carolina—this doesn't look to be quite the titanic struggle it was cracked up to be when the match was made, but some 67,000 customers will fill Yankee stadium to see it. And not one of them honestly expects North Carolina to win. As usual, Notre Dame.

Oklahoma (3) vs. Missouri — don't be surprised if this turns out to be the game of the week. Oklahoma has won 17 straight but Missouri has taken its last five games after losing by one point to Ohio State and SMU. A split-T duel for big seven honors and a bowl assignment. Oklahoma.

Army (2) vs. Pennsylvania—the all - victorious cadets probably wonder whether Penn's losses to Pitt and Virginia softened up the Quakers or put them in a fighting mood. Having won its first four games, Penn now stands a good chance of losing the last-four. A hefty vote for Army.

California Favored

Oregon vs California (4)—these two shared the Pacific coast championship last year but this time it looks like California all alone. The upset by Washington last week was Oregon's third straight loss. California.

Texas A. and M. vs. Rice—now's the time when the undergrads usually assert themselves in the southwest conference and the Aggies' tie with SMU indicates they might make trouble here. But our vote goes to Rice.

Tulane vs. Vanderbilt—despite the loss to Notre Dame and last week's tie with Navy, Tulane still looks good enough to handle anything within the southeastern conference, including Vanderbilt. Make it Tulane.

Illinois vs. Ohio State (11)—at least four teams still have a chance to win the Big Ten bunting, but this will eliminate one of them. Even so, the race in that league is going right down to the wire. Ohio State.

Michigan State (8) vs. Oregon State—having scored more points against Notre Dame than any other team, Michigan State rates as one of the powers of the mid-west. Michigan State.

Cornell (6) vs Dartmouth—if unbeaten Cornell gets by Dartmouth, the big red has only to battle Penn for the Ivy League title. Cornell.

Texas Christian vs. Texas (13)—the Longhorns walloped Baylor, 20-0. Baylor beat TCU, 40-14. What are we waiting for? Texas.

Louisiana State Choice

Mississippi State vs Louisiana State (16)—the way LSU has been cutting up lately, how did it ever lose to Georgia? Louisiana State.

Indiana vs. Michigan (5)—looks like a good spot for Michigan to relax before its showdown next week with Ohio State. Michigan.

Washington vs UCLA—although they've snapped their six game losing streak, a victory for the Huskies would be a surprise. UCLA.

Georgia Tech vs. Alabama—the crimson tide is a one-point favorite to take this one, but we'll ride with the underdog. Georgia Tech.

Cyclones Pick Sooners To Defeat Missouri

AMES, Iowa, Nov. 11—(P)—The Iowa State Cyclones, who should have a good line on the teams involved, pick Oklahoma to win over Missouri in the Big Seven conference football classic at Columbia, Mo., tomorrow.

Missouri defeated Iowa State 32-0. Oklahoma defeated the Cyclones 34-7.

The Iowa State players are unanimous in the opinion the Oklahoma will win.

Coach Abe Stuber isn't "so sure," but nods the Oklahoma way.

Said Stuber: "Oklahoma has the better kicking game, including punt returns and kickoffs, and a bit sharper ground game. Missouri looked better against us passing and in pass defense. Oklahoma, I would say, has the finer all around game."

Bear Won On Rose Bowl Game Killed

CHICAGO, Nov. 11—(P)—Mayor Martin Kennedy recently notified Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco that a small bear the Chicago mayor won in a Rose Bowl football bet last January had escaped from a zoo cage and was killed.

Kennedy said he got this response today from Robinson: "It was perfectly understandable what the bear was doing. He was heading back toward the California climate."

Virginia May Get Into The Cotton Bowl

Oklahoma However Is Still The No. 1 Choice For Classic

DALLAS, Nov. 11—(P)—Virginia has moved into the Cotton bowl picture but Oklahoma, if it is available, still appears the No. 1 choice.

Cotton Bowl officials assembled for the annual drawing which determines how 25,000 tickets can be distributed and not make 50-000 people mad. There are 78,000 requests.

No Personal Preference

None of the officials would talk except for personal preference, pointing out that no team yet has been contacted and none will until the probably southwest conference champion jots down a list of teams it would be willing to take its opponent from in the Jan. 2 gridiron classic.

Right now it looks like Rice will be the host team but officials of that school won't discuss the Cotton Bowl. Rice still has to play Texas A. and M., Texas Christian and Baylor and could be knocked out of the running or tied for the title. Baylor, in second place, has lost one game. Southern Methodist, in third, has lost one and tied one.

Picture Not Too Clear

The southwest conference picture can't possibly clear up sufficiently this week to start working out preferential lists. Baylor plays Wyoming in a non-conference game.

One Cotton Bowl head commented that Virginia looked like it would be a good bet and that from all indications it was a colorful team as well as being undefeated and untied.

"We know the Oklahoma people would like to come to the Cotton Bowl," said one official. "We understand there was considerable dissatisfaction last Jan. 1 over tickets and other things at the Sugar Bowl when Oklahoma played North Carolina."

Harry Caray Is Divorced By Wife

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11—(P)—Mrs. Dorothy May Caray was granted a divorce yesterday from Harry Caray, a well known St. Louis sportscaster.

Caray agreed to pay $575 a month alimony and support money for three children.

Mrs. Caray took the stand in Clayton circuit court and testified that Caray was cold and indifferent toward her and had told her he no longer loved her.

Caray was not in court.

The couple separated last August after 12 years of married life. Caray, in collaboration with Gabby Street, has for several years broadcast games played by the St. Louis Cardinals over an extensive mid-west network.

Russia Uses Atomic Energy Not For Bombs

Vishinsky Declares They Can Have As Many As They Need

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 11—(P)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky declared Thursday Soviet Union is utilizing atomic energy not to stockpile atom bombs but for vast mountain moving and desert watering projects aimed at expanding the Soviet economy.

He said, however, that if it became necessary for Russia to amass atomic bombs "we should have as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

A Dramatic Surprise

In a dramatic surprise appearance before the 59-nation special political committee of the United Nations, Prime Minister Stalin's top diplomat said:

"We in the Soviet Union are utilizing atomic energy, but not in order to stockpile atomic bombs—although I am convinced that if, unfortunately and to our great regret, this were necessary, we should have as many of these as we should need—no more and no less."

Yesterday a Soviet—licensed newspaper in Berlin said the Russians had used atomic energy to blast an entire mountain to open the way for a man-made river bigger than the English channel.

The fiery, gray-haired Soviet foreign minister at the same time made a bitter attack on the plan for prohibiting atomic bombs and controlling atomic energy which has the support of the U. S., Britain, France, China and Canada—and a great majority of all the United Nations.

Red-faced, and flailing arms through the air, he shouted: "There is not an atom of control in the American atom control plan."

Vishinsky said the five-power western plan is "doomed to failure" and asserted that the crux of the U. N. inability to reach agreement on atomic energy control is a desire by the U. S. to monopolize control over the world's atomic resources.

Want No World Domination

"We want no world domination," he said. "The Soviet Union stands squarely on the grounds of peaceful cooperation."

He declared the big powers are not closer to a solution of an atomic control plan than they were three years ago and attributed the lack of progress to the attitude expressed last April by President Truman.

At that time, the President told a group of congressmen in Washington he believed it never would be necessary to drop another atom bomb but he would not hesitate to use the bomb again for the welfare of the Democracies.

Russia has proposed outlawing the atom bomb but refuses to agree to the rigid forms of inspection demanded by the western powers. The Soviet line on this is that such inspection of atomic resources and installations would violate national sovereignty.

Vishinsky said Russia's objection to such international control is motivated by a belief that since atomic energy should be used only for peaceful purposes, then it should be controlled by national governments responsible for their own economic development.

"How sorrowful," Vishinsky shouted, "if the control of atomic energy were taken from sovereign, peace-loving states and given to an international organ with no control over the economies of various states!"

Proposes Omitting Of Armistice Day

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 11—(P)—The Tulsa World proposed editorially today that the national observance of Armistice day be omitted.

It urges instead, a lumping of 11 such rites into one such celebration—possibly on Memorial Day.

The Armistice was a signal event as an end of World War I, but through the years and since and another war has come to mean less and less toward peace. Memorial Day, on the other hand, is more extensive, the newspaper contends.

Its editorial will say, in part: "People talk, with relative calmness, of a third world war. The whole world is uneasy."

"There is a latent, and sometimes expressed feeling that the pre-mine of Armistice Day, as one of peace is failing."

"We see no incongruity in combining these and other memorial occasions into one fully integrated celebration."

Ft. Sill Personnel Chief Is Killed

LAWTON, Okla., Nov. 11—(P)—Fort Sill's chief of civilian personnel was killed in his home last night and a dismissed assistant librarian at the Army post admitted the shooting.

Police Chief Joe Cable said 45-year-old James T. Downen's death climaxed an argument between him and A. H. Farish, 36, who was fired about two months ago.

Farish is in jail here. No charges have been filed.

Maj. Frank J. Petull, who lives across the street from the Downen home, was the first to arrive on the scene. He said Farish gave him a .25-caliber pistol.

Downen's wife and 17-year-old daughter were in another part of the house when the fatal shot was fired as he sat in a living room chair.

Downen has been at Sill about two and a half years. He is a native of Durant.

New Plan For Germany By Western Allies

But It Is Promptly Snagged On French Cabinet Objections

PARIS, Nov. 11 — (P) — The Western allies wrote a new plan for Germany last night, but it promptly snagged on French cabinet objections.

The new plan is reported authoritatively to give Germany its freest hand since the war. It was whittled out and approved by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman in two days of secret meetings.

The foreign ministers of the three Benelux nations—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—gave it quick approval, and Schuman took the plan to his cabinet. There, reliable sources said, Schuman was given "detailed instructions" which amount to a French counter-proposal.

Wary Of An Alliance

Rejection by the French, always wary of an alliance with their historic enemy, could scuttle three plans. It could even wreck Premier Georges Bidault's two weeks old government, veteran diplomats said.

Diplomatic sources said the point at issue is the dismantlement of German industry. Schuman had joined Britain and the United States in agreeing that the dismantlement should be halted. The informants said the cabinet, however, sent Schuman back to a night-time big three session with instruction on just how far France is willing to go in rescuing the industry of her traditional foe.

Though its contents have not yet been made public, the general lines of the big three formula were believed to have been:

1. Sharp cuts in the German factory dismantling program. In exchange, the West German government would accept allied controls over industries which turn out goods potentially useful in war.

2. Consular representation abroad for the West Germans, without diplomatic status. Britain, the U. S., and France to retain direction of foreign policy.

3. West German associate membership in the Council of Europe, the parliament which seeks European unity. The Saar basin, now linked to France's economy, also to be a member.

men used one booster line to quickly put out a fire in a garden which caused no damage. Residents of the home were appreciative of the prompt response as an occupant of the home was very ill. A barn and garage were saved.

An hour later, the firemen were called to a vacant lot in the 600 block on East Fifth street to extinguish a grass fire which caused no damage.

At 2:29 p. m., the fire trucks went to the residence of Charles Morrison, 308 North Grand avenue. Two pumps buckets were used on the grass blaze which caused no damage.

Verdict In Suit To Defendant

A circuit court jury found the issues in favor of the defendant Thursday afternoon in the case of Daisy Van Meter against the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad company, a corporation, in a damage suit which asked for $15,000 for alleged wrongful death to plaintiff's husband, who died as a result of being struck by a train near Leeton on or about October 24, 1947.

The trial lasted a day and half. The jury was composed of W. D. Steele, Egbert Means, C. E. Wells, R. N. Neffendroph, F. C. Chaney, Mrs. Lewis Schlobohm, J. V. Ramey, Charles Smith, Herschel Summers, Ray Haines, Ernest Bommer and George Coffman.

Attorneys for the plaintiff were Frank T. Armstrong and Thomas C. Swanson of Kansas City. John T. Martin represented the defendant.
